Northeast Region Performance Review and Action Plan

SUMMARY

From 2022 through 2025, the Northeast region, along with stores located in Maryland, have had consistent performance with average sales growth over time in sales. Moving forward, the Northeast Region must shift focus on prioritizing low revenue stores and category matching to increase sale projection in the upcoming quarter by mixing high ranked category products as bundles with low average transactions categories for low-ranked stores to increase sales in low-ranked stores. The Northeast region's top 10-15 ranked stores have a larger average transaction size from the top 3 categories being Technology and Accessories, Apparel and Merchandise, and Books (General). The data shows progressive growth within top-ranked stores, but with low-ranked stores creating disproportionate sales revenue and average transactions. The goal is to increase sales with an action plan for low-ranked stores.

FINANCIAL OVERVIEW

The Northeast Region and Maryland have both shown positive revenue potential going into the next quarter based on the current positive revenue total from both state and region IDs. The top store ranked $8.7M in total revenue in the Northeast region, which is an outlier compared to the top 2 to 10 store IDs ranging from 600K-300K. Moving into the new quarter, Store IDs with total revenue ranging around 300K should be prioritized with a new action plan. An alternative plan would be as the region moves into the next quarter; mid-ranked stores should be targeted for growth initiatives while possibly cutting low-ranked stores by merging them into mid-ranked stores. Either way spending and investments on low-ranked categories should be reduced and bought in moderation as a part of the initiative of bundling product categories.

STRATEGIC INITIATIVES

The top-ranked stores in the Northeast region should continue with the current trajectory made going forward into the new year. The stores ranked less than the top 10 should prioritize turning low-ranked categories into bundled merchandise options paired with the top 3 categories to increase product sales in low volume stores or create customer incentives tied to a loyalty account to increase store volume and allow access to sale opportunities through a loyalty account.

RECOMMENDATIONS AND ACTION PLAN

The top 3 categories are our highest priority categories to expand on. In any case, these stores and categories should be prioritized because of the amount of increased profit being pulled from these categories and considering these categories are widespread, we have them in high volume and it's easier to expand on. The Northeast region should prioritize and push on expanding product volumes of Technology, Apparel, and Books while still incorporating low-ranked categories.
